Collagen Induction Therapy (CIT) see website

Collagen Induction Therapy (CIT), also known as microneedling is a procedure that improves the appearance of wrinkles, acne scars and stretch marks by stimulating your skin's natural ability to repair itself. Collagen Induction Therapy uses tiny, sharp needles to create hundreds of micro-channels in the superficial layers of the skin. In response to these micro-injuries, your body releases growth factors and cytokines, which trigger the wound-healing process. During this process, the body produces more collagen a fibrous protein that contributes to the structural integrity of the skin resulting in thicker more youthful-appearing skin.
